BUSINESS DATA DASHBOARDS

A decision made without data is little more than a guess. Open-i Advisors eliminates the guesswork and arms organizations with essential Business Intelligence.

We build robust and detailed management dashboards based on key performance metrics. These dashboards give valuable insight into performance and serve as a powerful and concise communication tool, illustrating the overall health of the company. Select dashboards can also be used to communicate department specific statistics, and track success against pre-determined goals.

Understanding what a company values and how they define success is the first step in building a strategy for managing and leading through metrics. Before the work of mining data and creating dashboards begin, Open-i Advisors walks clients through the process of defining success and linking key metrics to those definitions. We evaluate current data sources, suggest new ones and determine the precise information to communicate through reports and management dashboards.
